Plight of Alcazar Spurs Rebels To Keep Fighting Through Sabbath; Marking Time in North.

By ADOLFO DA ROSA.

(Copyright, 1936, by the United Press.) LISBON, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Thousands of Spaniards were reported killed Sunday when Rebel columns, driving on Madrid from Talavera, launched a terrific attack on poorly equipped, inexperienced militia defending this vital sector.

Rebels claimed a crushing defeat of Madrid's main army, with more than 2,500 Loyalists killed and many times this number wounded or captured.

Insurgent casualties were not announced. Fighting was continuous all through the Sabbath.

Loafing rebels were demoralized, Rebel claimed.

If these reports are true, Madrid is in grave danger. If the Rebels won a victory of the magnitude claimed on the western front, their columns Sunday night were within 35 miles of the capital on a main road leading straight to Madrid.

5 Miles a Day.

A United Press staff correspondent with the advancing Rebels confirmed that a desperate, major battle was raging between Santa Olalla and Madrid, and that the insurgents, led by Moors, were pushing the Loyalists before them and advancing at the rate of five miles a day. Casualties were heavy.

To the north, a United Press staff correspondent reported, strong Rebel forces were even closer. Reynolds Packard said that from Rebel observation post in the Guadarrama mountains, less than 30 miles from Progressives Planning Campaign for F. D. R.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Progressive national committee, headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin, today opened headquarters for its campaign to unite progressive and liberal forces behind President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"The vote gained by the Progressive national committee for President Roosevelt ought to amount to 2,000,000, and that is a considerable estimate," said Maurice P. Davison, New York executive vice chairman of the committee.

Davidson declared he thought that peace-making by former Governor E. Smith would not add "a single vote" to the total for Governor Landon.

It was said at the headquarters that Labor La Guardia will campaign next month for President Roosevelt in New York and probably in the middle west where the Progressives claim strength.

3,000 Bankers Meet; Gratified by Recovery

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Visibly cheered by the new business progress, some 3,000 bankers gathered here today for the American Bankers' Association annual convention.

They came talking enthusiastically of industrial indices, electric power output, steel production, earnings, rates and other rising indicators of increasing production and consumption.

Robert V. Fleming, of Washington, president of the association, expressed hope that congress would modify and clarify the tax situation, particularly with reference to the new tax on undistributed earnings.

Colonel Fannin's command was on the way to San Antonio to relieve the beleaguered Americans in the Alamo.

Solution of Tenant Problem Forecast on Eve of Meeting

Arkansas Commission, Meeting Today, Will Seek To Formulate Program To Improve Lot of Farm Share-Croppers in South.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Governor J. M. Futrell expressed confidence tonight that his Farm Tenancy Commission would formulate definite recommendations for solution of the south's 70-year-old sharecropping problem.

He will address the honorary 57-member group tomorrow when it convenes its initial session to work out a program designed to improve the lot of southerners. The conference is the forerunner of Futrell's proposed Dixie-wide parley on the subject.

"The main end to be gained," said the Arkansas chief executive, "is substitution of farm tenants with farm owners. The policy of this country should be to encourage and stimulate a general gesture."

President J. R. Butler, of the union, said he would seek to read a statement before the commission asking it to "face facts" in its study of the problem.

He suggested when he called the meeting of the state body that the best solution to the tenant problem appeared to be a federal-state co-operative program opening the door of farm ownership to agricultural workers now working on a share basis.

A federal grand jury in Little Rock tentatively set next Wednesday for consideration of charges that peonage exists in the eastern counties of the state. Two Department of Justice attorneys and a dozen other persons are expected to testify.

At least 20 persons were wounded.

Many buildings within the mid-town area were damaged. Citizens were hurled from their beds. The detonation was heard for many miles.

Police arrested 20 members of the Spanish Socialist club in their investigation of the blast and raided the organization's offices.

First unofficial estimates placed property damage at more than $1,000,000. One unofficial source said more than 500 buildings were damaged.

The historic old church, Nuestra Senora de Monserrate, was wrecked by the blast. It is just across the street from El Pais.

The El Pais blast was set off at 6 a.m. (Atlanta time).

Dynamite Load Found.

A short time later hundreds of police reserves called into action found a second truckload of dynamite parked in front of the Hotel de Marina office, 10 blocks from the blast.

Dry cell batteries were connected with more than 1,000 sticks of dynamite. An alarm clock device was set to explode the truckload at 10:15 o'clock a.m.

Police expressed belief a "terrorist" campaign was being waged against Havana newspapers but said they were unable to fix blame for today's incident.

National Police Chief Jose Pedraza stationed guards at all other newspapers in the city and permitted no

SOUTHERN TEXAS WARNED OF FLOOD

Rampaging River Heads for Lower Area With 400 Made Homeless.

BROWNSWOOD, Texas, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Two radio-equipped coast guard planes flew low over the flood-threatened Colorado river valley today warning residents to seek safety as the rampaging river headed toward more populous regions to the south.

The river, its path strewn with death and destruction, was rising rapidly at Chadwick, south of here, at midmorning. The stage there was 52 feet, within a few feet of record height.

W. A. Smith, publisher of the San Saba News, estimated between 200 and 300 people were homeless in the flood area but said they were being adequately cared for by friends and neighbors. All of them, he said, had lost all their possessions, including crops.

Relief Base Established.

With two deaths and untold property damage already charged to the turbulent floodwaters, coast guard planes established a base of operations at Austin, the state capital, for rescue work.

The capital, in the path of the swollen river, braced for the flood crest, but Frank Haynes, weather observer, predicted it would not reach there before tomorrow.

Water was not rising appreciably at Buchanan dam, west of Lampasas, and apparently 50 million dollars of the present crest, C. G. Shipp, superintendent of police at Buchanan dam, said the river was only slightly above normal there.

Planes Ordered Out.

Lieutenant Commander M. M. Nelson of the United States coast guard station at Del Rio, ordered planes to search and rescue in the flooded areas. The pilots were instructed to look for refugees and radio rescue directions to the truck.

The pilots also were ordered to drop warnings.

Creeks along the river backed up and flooded thousands of acres of fertile farmland.

Bitter Fight in Prospect on $34,000 Diversion To Restore 5 Per Cent Cut.

Council today is slated to engage in a bitter battle over a proposal to provide $35,000 to reinstate five percent of the ten per cent cuts imposed on nonschool city employees.

The fund would be provided, under a vote of the finance committee, by a new anticipated city receipt for the year, the remaining $34,000 to be distributed to various city departments with a view of bolstering already depleted departmental allocations.

Chairman La Follette, Progressive, announced that Tuesday's inquiry would center on affairs of the Inquiry Audit & Inspection Company, industrial defense firm, whose officers refused to testify at the opening hearing August 21.

Report Expected.

A federal grand jury report on the committee's request for a "confidential" investigation of the pasted mosaic is due at the opening hearing, at which officials of four companies also have been summoned to appear.

MRS. NORA H. CLARKE IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Pioneer Settler of Atlanta
Was Member of Distinguished Family.

Mrs. Nora Harrison Clarke, for more than 70 years a resident of Atlanta, died early yesterday morning following a long illness.

For many years a conspicuous figure in Atlanta's social, musical and religious circles, Mrs. Clarke confined her activities to her home after the death in 1910 of her husband, Colonel E. Y. Clarke, distinguished Confederate veteran who was among the leaders in rebuilding Atlanta from its destruction by Sherman and who was the city's first historian.

Mrs. Clarke was born in Randolph county in 1847, the daughter of George W. Harrison, at one time secretary of the state of Georgia. She was a graduate of LaGrange Female College and the Lucy Cobb Institute.

Mrs. Clarke came to Atlanta with her family when the capital was moved to this city following the War Between the States.

She was the sister of the late Colonel Z. D. Harrison for more than half a century clerk of the supreme court of Georgia, and George W. Harrison, state senator, both of whom died within the past year.

Surviving are two sons, Edward Y. and Francis W. Clarke, assistant to the editor of the Constitution; a grandson, Samuel E. Clarke, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the St. Paul's Hill chapel of H. M. Peterson & Son. The Rev. Herman L. Turner will officiate and burial, private, will be in Oakland cemetery.

CITY TRAFFIC TOLL ADVANCES TO 46

Negro Bicyclist Dies at Grady of Injuries Suffered Last Monday.

Injuries suffered last Monday afternoon when the bicyclist was riding colliding with a concrete mixing truck at the corner of Butler and Gilmer streets proved fatal yesterday morning to Eugene Benton, 19, negro, of 88 Bell street.

Benton died at Grady hospital, where he had been in critical condition for nearly a week, suffering a fractured skull, a broken back and fractures in both legs. His death marks the forty-sixth fatal traffic accident in the city limits of Atlanta during the year and the fifth since fatality during the current month. The last fatal traffic fatality was recorded Thursday when E. Farn 64, of Savannah, died a few hours after being admitted to Grady hospital following an accident at the corner of Peachtree and Tenth streets.

According to police, Benton collided with a heavy concrete mixing truck driven by Cleve Alexander, negro, of 110 Howell street. Alexander is charged with reckless driving.

Methodist Bishop Says in Elberton Sermon Georgia Must Wake Up.

ELBERTON, Ga., Sept. 20.—(AP) Bishop William Newman Ainsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, says "Georgia is in need of a sound religious awakening and nothing else is going to change and eleminate the course of our life."

In a sermon prepared for delivery today at the Methodist church here, the Macon bishop declared:

"That is a happy people whose God is the Lord."

He said "Georgia has just passed through a political campaign whose excesses have left scars that will not soon be healed. The injury will not be confined to the contending candidates, but will involve nearly every man of the state, who were whipped into a frenzied indifference that always hurts the body politic."

The fictitious issues and personal abuse that marked the campaigns of several candidates for important offices was the certificate of high statesmanship, as the frenzied response of the people was no tribute to their intelligence.

"Neither the success of one faction nor the defeat of the other is going to usher in the millennium. Whatever contribution may be made by the coming to the kingdom of Roosevelt or Landon or Russell or Taftmidge for the cause of Christ, it will be as little as this, the deeper need of this country is the coming of the kingdom of Jesus Christ."

"Witness a man recently shot down in a Georgia county while standing in a courthouse door awaiting for his trial and a citizen who said,

"Let the assassins go absolutely free."

"Law lies bleeding upon the courthouse lawn, and Georgia suffers humiliation and reproach. The beer parlor, tap room, and roadside are debauching thousands of our people and already stand as a threat to civilization."

The bishop said "the sober-minded citizens of Georgia had better wake up and demand of the governor and legislature that disastrous steps already taken shall be retraced and decisive action had to protect this state from gangsters and drinkers that are making serious inroads upon the habits of our people. Oh that Georgia would start again to seek the kingdom of God and His righteousness, which is the only hope of permanent blessing and recovery!"

DAIRYMEN RENEW THREATS.

POALAND, N. Y., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Renewed threats to call a milk "hollyday" Thursday unless the state milk control board meets their demands were voiced today at a mass meeting of central and northern New York dairymen. The dairymen displayed a willingness to compromise on a plan for their product but stood firm on a demand for abolition of the classified price plan.

VILLA RICA, Ga., Sept. 20.—J. P. McGuire, 76, retired farmer and long-time resident of this community, died early this morning at his home here, following a long illness.

He was a native of Douglas county, and well known in this section.

Surviving are six daughters, Mrs. E. N. Chambers, Mrs. B. D. Fuller, Mrs. J. S. Furr, Mrs. Willie Williams, Mrs. P. B. Camp and Mrs. B. P. Neal, all of Villa Rica.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Cheek officiating. Burial will be in the churchyard of the Primitive Baptist church.

F. D. R. ORDERS BODY OF 'CROP INSURANCE'

two kinds—"collapse" or prices resulting from huge surplus for which the foreign markets disappeared and a failure of crops in wide areas resulting from drought.

"Each of these emergencies," he continued, "except for government action to assist farmers, would have had devastating consequences to consumers and business as well as to farmers."

Permanent Measures.

"The time has come to work out permanent measures guarding farmers and consumers against disasters of both kinds. Crop insurance and a system of storage reserves should operate so that the surpluses of fat years could be carried over for use in the lean conservation programs."

Principles of Insurance.

"Measures of this kind should make three important contributions to the general welfare of the country as a whole:

"1. Protection of the individual farmer's income against the hazards of crop failure or price collapse;

"2. Protection of consumers against shortages of food supplies and against extremes of price inflation;

"3. Assistance to both business and employment through providing an even flow of farm supplies and the establishing of stability in farm buying rates."

The President said he was especially interested in Wallace's studies providing for the payment of premiums and subsidies in cash, "plus," he said, "should make it possible to base the premium rates on the productivity of the individual farms as shown by records of past production, a large number of which the AAA county committees already have on file." He suggested that for this reason the federal insurance be made available only to farmers "co-operating in farm and soil conservation programs."

Mrs. James Roosevelt.

"While the President's wife was described as "very much better," the White House said she would not accompany Mr. Roosevelt but would remain here for a time.

The President expected to remain in Atlanta until October 1, returning date at the New York state Democratic convention at Syracuse September 27. It will mark the start of Mr. Roosevelt's open participation in the campaign.

The chief executive had planned to go to Elkins Park after speaking Friday at Harvard University's centenary celebration but changed his plans suddenly and returned to the capital where he learned that Mrs. Roosevelt still was running a temperature.

He is due back in Washington about September 30 for a conference, which he called yesterday, to possibilities of setting up a pool of private and public power in the southeastern states and eventually in other regions.

He then will leave for a mountain forest festival at Elkins, W. Va., October 1 and another speech the night of October 1 in Pittsburgh. He will move on October 2 to dedicate a new hospital at Jersey City, N. J., and attend a World Series baseball game in New York before going again to Hyde Park. Campaign plans for October have yet to be announced by the President.

COTTON BASES ROAD

400 Miles Completed With Fabric Reinforcement.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—More than 400 miles of cotton re-inforced bituminous surfaced roads will have been completed within three months, state highway departments have notified the Cotton Textile Institute.

Completion of the roads, the institute said, will demonstrate the practicability of the use of cotton fabric as a reinforcing membrane between the top surface and the base.

The Department of Agriculture was allocated $1,300,000 to finance a nation-wide demonstration of the new construction method, which was expected to open a new market for cotton fabrics.

Cotton roads have been completed or are under construction in New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Alabama, Indiana, Virginia, Missouri, Arkansas and Tennessee.

ATLANTA, GA., SEPT. 21, 1936.

A REFLECTION ON GEORGIA

Eighty-four of the 159 county jails in Georgia are declared unfit for federal prisoners in a report by the Bureau of Prisons of the Department of Justice.

Concurrent with the publication of this report, the American Prison Association, in annual session at Chicago, adopted the abolition of the county jail as a unit of the American prison system as the first objective of an intense drive against crime in the United States.

It is obviously impossible for small county governments to maintain modern jails, but there can be no excuse for some of the structures that pass in Georgia for county jails. Often they consist of only a few rooms, unsanitary and dark, and totally unfitted for the purpose for which they are used.

Generally the food served to the prisoners in these jails is of the poorest quality, what bedding there is is soiled and often filled with vermin, and little or no medical attention is given to the inmates.

In these dark "cells" young first offenders are confined along with hardened criminals. In them the objectionable "kangaroo courts" flourish. Those diseased of mind and body are kept in close contact, sometimes for long periods, with those charged only with minor infractions of the law but who often come from such associations to enter upon a life of crime.

The decent citizens of every county in Georgia should insist that the jail maintained by their county government is a decent place in which to live. It costs but little to provide livable quarters and no more to maintain a clean prison than one that is filthy and so unsanitary as to be a threat to the health of the community.

Many of Georgia's county jails are a reflection upon the good name of the state, and they should be improved, not only because of humanitarian reasons, but as a protection for the young who, because of minor crimes, are arrested and thrown into them.

With Georgia's multiplicity of small counties, it is manifestly impossible for each to support a modern jail, but it would be a simple matter for these counties to form themselves into groups for the purpose of establishing and maintaining centrally located jails. Groups of adjacent counties could establish such jails, and still have their prisoners kept within an hour or less time of the respective courthouses.

Not only could such groups maintain decent, safe and up-to-date jails, but money could be saved by consolidated administration.

Not only as to jails, but in other governmental services—such as public health work, agricultural advancement efforts and similar activities—the smaller counties could secure better and less expensive public service through the formation of co-operative groups.

THE FARMER'S SHRINKING DEBT

The revolutionary change in the farmer's condition during the past three years is revealed in the announcement of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia that for every $1 falling due at the bank during August, the farmers of the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida paid an average of $6.57.

In Georgia the amount of farmers' loans falling due during the month totaled $50,637, but the amount collected came to $373,477.

In other words, the farmers of this state prepaid debts amounting to seven times as much as the debts they settled when they came due.

Probably not in half a century have the farms of Georgia been as free of debt and the farmers possessed of more working capital as is the case now.

Three years ago Georgia agriculture was on the verge of collapse, with thousands of farms being sold for loans and taxes and with the farmers and their families practically penniless. Now these same farmers are rapidly lifting their debts, they have bought new stock and equipment and they have money in the bank and automobiles in which to ride.

No wonder that the rural areas of the state gave overwhelming support in the recent primary to the administration, the policies of which have made all this possible.

OUTLOOK IN PENNSYLVANIA

The regular fall party registrations in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh give concrete backing to the claims of Democratic leaders that Pennsylvania will be in the Roosevelt column in the November elections.

In the long-time Republican stronghold of Philadelphia, the Democratic registration totals more than 160,000, a gain of 47 per cent. The Republican total of 221,000 marked a gain of only 17 per cent.

Thus the indications are that the Republican majority in Philadelphia, which has frequently been the margin by which Republican candidates have carried the state, will be materially reduced, if not eliminated, in the fall elections.

The same increase in Democratic strength is shown in the registrations in Allegheny county, in which Pittsburgh is located. In 1932 the Democratic registration in the county was less than 20,000, but in the recent registration more than 36,000 voters signed as Democrats, the Republican total being 317,000. In the spring registrations the Republican lead was 22,000, which has now been cut to 14,000.

The Democratic strength in Pennsylvania has always been centered in the rural and mining areas, and this strength has steadily increased during the past three years.

Since Hoover carried Pennsylvania against Roosevelt by less than 160,000 majority, the significance of the increase in Democratic registration in the Republican strongholds is apparent.

Certainly with the net gains in registration being in favor of the Democrats by a ratio of four to one there is hopeful prospect that Pennsylvania will this year abandon its Republican moorings and give its vote to Roosevelt.

HITLER ON "FOOL'S ERRAND"

The American press is, as a whole, not impressed with the likelihood that Germany can expect the return of any of her lost colonies, despite the bombastic words of Hitler at the Nazi congress at Nurnberg.

Hitler's formal inauguration of a "four-year program embracing aggressive colonial demands, intended to make Germany economically independent of the rest of the world," is viewed as follows by the Baltimore Sun, an American newspaper that keeps well abreast of world conditions:

Indeed, Herr Hitler is on a fool's errand. He is seeking the unobtainable. Self-sufficiency, or autarky, as it is known in Germany, is a dream born of ignorance. No country can possibly make itself so self-sufficient as to be "economically independent of the rest of the world." The United States, perhaps, is closer to that point than any other country. It produces, or can produce, almost everything it needs. Yet the United States could not afford to cut itself off from economic intercourse with the rest of the world, from that exchange of goods and services which is so essential to its own economic well-being.

The question is, where is Hitler going to get his colonies to make Germany "economically independent"? Certainly not from Great Britain or France, and it is even more certain that Japan with her new Monroe doctrine of the Pacific, will not release her protectorate over the Marianas, Caroline and other islands in that ocean.

It is believed in some quarters that Hitler's eyes have for some time longingly rested on the Don basin of Russia, with its great agricultural areas, and on other sections of the Soviet nation which abound in rich resources of coal, iron and oil.

Only by war can Hitler expect to win annex these areas—and it is just as sure that only by might can he ever get the former German possessions divided between Great Britain, France and Japan following the World War.

Nobody knows this better than Hitler and it is probable that his braggadocio at Nurnberg was more for effect on the series ranks of Nazis before him than any formal notification to the world that, somehow or other, by some hook or crook, an agreement must be reached to give Germany back the possessions she forfeited by the part she played in 1914.

The circus business in Germany is dying, according to trade adjectives. Possibly due to the Nazi regime appropriating the big adjectives.

It would be ghastly if Spain turned out to be a country without a country.

TODAY'S YESTERDAYS.

Sept. 21, 1918—Publius Vergilius Maro, called Virgo, died at the age of 51, having earned immortality as the greatest of the Latin poets. Yet he was Celtic! Though he wrote history's most classic study of war, the Aeneid, he was never a soldier.

Sept. 21, 1729—Philip Embury was born in Ballagarey, Ireland, of German parentage. He was a carpenter and occasional preacher when he emigrated five years later, moved by reproaches of Barbara Heck, sometimes called the "foundress of American Methodism." He became the first Methodist preacher in the United States. The first Methodist church was built by Embury himself working 1808 in New York, his workshop being in a basement under his home.

Sept. 21, 1877—A 400,000-ton rock floated out of Alexandria, Egypt, bound for London on one of history's longest journeys. The obelisk, known as the Cleopatra's Needle, though it was 1500 years old during the reign of the best-known Cleopatra, an iron cylinder 93 feet long and 15 feet in diameter had been fitted around the obelisk, and bilge keels, foremast, cabin, bridge, rudder and ship deck removed. The great stone monument was literally sailed thousands of miles in a 122-day voyage.

Sept. 21 in State Histories—1870: Major General Benedict Arnold met Major John Andre and sold out to the No. 1 United States traitor. 1784: The American Advertiser, first daily newspaper in the United States, made its initial appearance, in Philadelphia. . . . 1846: Philip of Monteypensier, Mexican American victory. . . . 1860: Santa Clara's was published, in Charles A. Dana's New York Sun. But this, the best-remembered of all the Sun's contests, wasn't written by Dana.

FIRST WORLD WAR DAY-BY-DAY.

Twenty Years Ago Today—Sharp speeches of members of the Reichstag in Berlin let the German people know definitely that the great German effort at Verdun had come to naught. The general staff could have blamed pigeons. Verdicts arrived from captured in the first attack easily through the use of pigeons after other communications between its forts and the rear had been cut off.

The Germans had not thought to bring along hawks to prevent pigeon communications. In the siege of Paris in 1870, Verdicts arrived from captured in the first attack easily through the use of pigeons after other communications between its forts and the rear had been cut off.

Good Morning

BY LOUIE D. NEWTON.

GOING TO COLLEGE.

At the opening of the 64th session of Shorter College, last Friday, September 18, I asked if someone in the senior class would get up and tell me what her first three years in college had meant to her. Miss Dorothy Perry, of Decatur, Ga., arose and said: "I have been greatly blessed. These years of fellowship with faculty and students have enriched my life immeasurably. I have been brought face to face with the best that has been thought and said in the past, and I have been inspired to commit myself with enthusiasm to the will of God. I then asked the general assembly to adjourn so that we could get up and tell why she had come to college that day. Miss Nan Rose, of Eatonton, Ga., stood up and said: "Some friends took an interest in trying to help me get an education. They encouraged me, despite my difficulties, to go to college. I am grateful for the sincere purpose of doing my dead-level best to prepare myself for life."

President Paul Cousins and every member of his faculty were supremely happy to hear these remarkable testimonies. Don't you know that the parents of these girls would have been happy to have their daughters attend Shorter? Colonel Alfred Shorter, founder of the college who, in his hand-written will on July 18, 1881, gave thousands of dollars to the original endowment of the institution, would have been happy to have heard these girls speak? Didn't you know that Dr. A. C. Van House and Paul Cooper, who gave so much of their life and money to the college, would have been happy to know that they had not lived in vain?

Thousands upon thousands of boys and girls are entering college this month in nation. If each of these friends could tell us what their rare privilege in the same spirit of consecration that was so vividly expressed in the testimony of Miss Perry and Miss Morse, the year will be epochal in the history of education in America. The college should be a light-house of civilization, a guiding ground for the great journey of life. The men and women who have dedicated their lives to the teaching of youth, the men and women who have given their money to establish and maintain these institutions, will be uniformly happy if they know that boys and girls of purpose are entering the portals of opportunity which they have been blessed to provide.

The question is, where is Hitler going to get his colonies to make Germany "economically independent"? Certainly not from Great Britain or France, and it is even more certain that Japan with her new Monroe doctrine of the Pacific, will not release her protectorate over the Marianas, Caroline and other islands in that ocean.

Double Trouble.

Having had considerable trouble with his three lodgers, an innkeeper decided to hold them when he saw them in the morning.

"You three are a nice pair!" he said.

"If you are going to stop here, you'll have to get out, for you didn't come home again last night until this morning."

Brain Food.

"Yes, I know fish is brain food, but I don't care so much for fish. Hain't there some other brain food?"

"Well, there's noodle soup."

A "Yes Man."

"There's one thing I can say for my wife."

"What's that?"

"I am."

NEW DEAL TRAINING TO AID PUBLIC HEALTH

Group Given Advanced Instruction With Security Monies.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Public Health Service said today the first long course toward improved general health under the Social Security act had been taken with the advanced training of more than 200 medical officers, nurses, engineers and sanitarians at five universities during the past summer.

Using a portion of the $1,000,180 allotted in the act for "professional education and the training of public health workers" the Universities of California, Minnesota, Michigan, and North Carolina and Vanderbilt University enrolled groups from their own and nearby states for an intensive four months of theoretical and practical scientific training.

An example of the program, officials said that at the University of Michigan 10 medical officers, 13 engineers and sanitarians, 36 public health nurses and one statistician were enrolled. For three months they attended classes in public health administration, bacteriology, hygiene and the handling of epidemics, statistics, sanitation and engineering, health education, maternity and infant hygiene, school health programs, mental hygiene, tuberculosis and general diseases.

In the second month they were assigned to field practice in county health offices throughout the state of Michigan during which time they also conducted personal studies of the relation of public health to economics, geography, and available health facilities.

GARDENS DEDICATED BY AMERICAN LEGION

The numbers were taken off their cars so when the switches were shifted by hand.

Hotel lobbies were crowded and noisy. A German band toured the city, adding considerably to the din.

Dedication of Peace Gardens, whose soil was brought from sacred shrines of foreign countries and the 48 states, opened Saturday afternoon with the American Legion's eighteenth national convention, business sessions of which will get under way tomorrow.

Pillar Unveiled.

The Legion, in an impressive ceremony led by National Commander Ray Murphy, unveiled in the unique gardens a memorial pillar bearing a plinth.

"These gardens, planned by men who know the horrors of war, were dedicated to the brotherhood of man and peace throughout the world."

The Peace Gardens, located in Rockefeller park, form the spearhead of Cleveland's $1,500,000 cultural gardens and consist of two divisions—the avenue of states and the avenue of states—covering an area of approximately two acres each.

In the avenue of nation each of the world's nations will be represented by a living memorial tree, it is planned. In the avenue of states

States Contribute.

Each nation and state was asked by the Legion to give one cubic foot of soil from its most sacred shrine to be used in planting the memorial tree dedicated to it. These soil shipments have been arriving daily.

From France came soil gathered from battlefields where William B. Hartsfield, high vote-getter in the first mayoralty primary, last night issued a statement propounding a series of questions addressed to his opponent in the runoff race.

The statement follows:

"So far as the real issues of this campaign are concerned, Mayor Key's campaign committee realize that the only really important points

"The only hope is to win a large number of good citizens to vote once more, or that they can shake the confidence of the public in me.

"The mayor's committee is asking all sorts of foolish questions in an effort to get the public off of the mess they have made of the real issue."

"I would like them to stop grinding out false affidavits and hatching up fake doctors' bills, long enough to think up some good answers to the following questions:

"1. Do you still think Atlanta has the greatest police chief in the country? If not, why not, and when did you change your mind?"

"2. Why have you not defended your city whisky store a single time during this campaign?

"3. Do you still think Atlanta has

"4. Will you kindly explain why you issued to the wealthiest lawyer in Atlanta, a pardon, 24 hours in advance of his trial in recorder's court?"

Those in the contest are Councilmen Horace M. Rantin, George B. Lytle, and Walter M. Sutton and former Councilman E. A. Minor.

W. Paul Carpenter, Howard Haire, Frank Wilson and Alvin L. Richards are fighting it out in a four-cornered contest for the two councilmanic positions from the new sixth ward.

A plurality vote controls in the council runovers, and thus the two high vote-getters in the council races will be declared nominees under the rule of the city Democratic executive committee, headed by James T. Ozburn.

A. E. Everett will win the executive committee post from the new first ward. C. F. McDonald, who was entitled to enter the runover, failed to qualify and Everett thus is left a clear field.

Horace Louther and Sash Sharp will be in a contest for the same post from the new third ward, and Charles N. Walker and J. F. Graham are running it out for the sixth ward committee position.

Cubs Beat Dizzy Dean, 4-3; Giants Win, 5-0

NEW YORK LEADS NATIONAL FIELD BY SIX CONTESTS

Terrymen Breeze Behind Fitzsimmons; Bob Smith Wins Own Game.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Chicago's Cubs caught up with Dizzy Dean in the eighth inning today to conquer the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, and moved ahead once more in their argument over second place in the National League.

The Cubs, who took over second place by winning the series opener Friday, gave it right back to Frankie Frisch's Gas House gang yesterday, again moved into the runner-up spot today by assaulting the great Dizzy, just when it appeared he had his 24th victory of the season in his pocket.

While the 1935 champions struggled upward a notch, the Cubs' second victory of the cut-throat series was of even greater benefit to the league-leading New York Giants, who again defeated Brooklyn. The Cubs remained six full games behind the heirs apparent to the title, with the Cardinals another half-game farther back.

The Giants continued their rush toward the National league pennant and made a complete killing of their Brooklyn jinx by trouncing the Dodgers, 5 to 0, with fat Freddy Fitzsimmons pitching his first shutout of the year.

The victory gave the Giants a sweep of the three-game series and their seventh straight win over their erstwhile hard-luck "cousins," and apparently made their chances of clinching well. He caught a great game yesterday and will catch again tonight despite a split finger. The Galvin man has been a valuable member of this pennant-winning team.

"I think they will win," said Paul Richards. "The team will be bearing down Monday night. All they needed was to square it Sunday."

Richards, who suffered a badly split finger last week, will be ready to catch Wednesday night when the series with Birmingham begins.

Leonard is pitching. Meanwhile, the gallant Jim Galvin has carried on well.

The Browns celebrated their last home game with a sweep of their 22 hits in two games to take both ends of a double-header from the Chicago White Sox by scores of 8 to 5 and 9 to 3.

So, all we need is to win tonight. And then, make your reservations for Wednesday night when we start in on those Barons.

Richards To Be Ready If Crackers Trip Pels

By Ralph McGill

Mr. Paul Richards will be ready next Wednesday night to have at those Brusque Barons from Birmingham.

That is, he will be ready, if those Crackers win the game tonight after gallantly squaring the series yesterday afternoon when the cause seemed lost at New Orleans.

They are the worst club for that sort of thing—getting up off the floor when everyone seems to have given up, and scoring a knockout. They did it yesterday.

If they run true to form they will win tonight and thereby become eligible to play those Brusque Barons, who yesterday eliminated the erstwhile Vicious Vols.

Those Vols ran true to form. They went into Birmingham yelling something about three straight and proceeded to lose the series. The Vols were the club which all year was just getting ready to oust the Crackers from first place. They spent the entire season getting ready for the defeat of the Crackers and never got around to defeating them.

GOOD INTENTIONS.

They meant to defeat Birmingham in the play-off but they never quite got around to it. Those Vols were the champion threateners of the league but they never got beyond promising to threaten.

Paul Richards, the Masked Marvel from Waxahatchie, Texas, dropped in yesterday to determine the condition of the team president, Mr. Earl Mann, and remained to hear the returns from the game in New Orleans.

Earl Mann, who has been confined to his bed for about a week due to a partial collapse of one lung because of a freak accident, was suffering from high blood pressure, a running temperature, and a galloping excitement while the radio returns came in.

BACK TO NORMAL.

When the game was won he was about normal and proceeded to tear into a dinner wherein he devasted his part of a roast duck, baked ham and a few new comestibles. He will be up for the game Wednesday night—if the Crackers can win tonight.

Richards, who suffered a badly split finger last week, will be ready to catch Wednesday night when the series with Birmingham begins.

The triple killing came in the first game. Gehrke caught Dean, Linn.

He relayed the ball to Dahlgren to catch Foyne off first, and Dahlgren rifled it to Cronin to nab Moses off second.

Herman Fink twirled five-hit ball to fullゴー in the opener.

Jimmy Foxx had a double, two singles and a home—hit thirty-nine.

For a perfect day at bat in the second game.

A three-run rally in the eighth gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-to-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians and slam in their four-game series.

The Browns celebrated their last home game with a sweep of their 22 hits in two games to take both ends of a double-header from the Chicago White Sox by scores of 8 to 5 and 9 to 3.

So, all we need is to win tonight. And then, make your reservations for Wednesday night when we start in on those Barons.

Kid Brown Beaten By Young Cook, 2-1

State Champion Upset by Tech High Star in Kaiser Meet.

By Roy White.

Jack Cook, city, state and southern prep champion from Tech High, upset Kid Brown, Georgia's amateur champion, 2-1, and won the annual Nat Kaiser Memorial trophy tournament Saturday afternoon at the Anisley Park course.

Playing from scratch, Cook carded a 36 and was three up at the turn, then sank a birdie and closed out with a 36.

On the back nine, Brown rallied and out the margin but was unable to hold the pace and was closed out on the 17th green. Conceding both players a par on the 18th green, which was not unusual for the way they were playing, Brown would have had a 32, two under par, against a 33, one under par for Cook.

It was the biggest upset of the tournament and will rank as one of the biggest upsets in private club play in the city this year.

ANSLEY ADVANCES.

And in Anisley Park's annual club championship tournament, all during round matches were completed during the week with no upsets. Kid Brown was 2-0 in the upper bracket, while Jack Cook won a 5-3 decision over C. A. Merriman.

The winners and losers in each division will form flights and continue play, except the fours flight, which contains only six players.

The results:

FIRST DIVISION.

Kid Brown beat F. R. Smith by default. J. A. Dodd beat D. T. Cannon, 2-1. C. G. Clover beat W. L. Lakes, 2-1.

Sargent has been very popular with East Lake players and in addition to playing in many of the club tournaments, he has kept an accurate account of all tournaments, blind bogeys and the weekly dogfights on Sunday afternoons. Many of his friends will wish him well in his new undertaking.

WEST END WINS.

West End defeated Thompson, 18 to 5, Sunday afternoon on the West End course in the first matches of a revival of the former popular inter-city series. A return match will be played early in October on the Thompson course.

The play of Charlie Thompson, Alton Jenkins and G. C. King was outstanding for the visitors and kept them from being completely shut out.

Dannals Cards Eagle at Capital City.

Charlie Dannals Jr. carded an eagle on the 360-yard 17th green at Capital City Sunday afternoon. Dan, with one of his best drives from the tee, sank an eight iron shot for the lowest in the lineup of the league.

Dannals, played with George Harris and Bobby Chambers, in a collegiate threesome, Dannals and Harris being former members of the Tech team and Chambers winning his laurels on the Emory golf team.

Paul Richards, injured, today was another hero of the fourth game of the Shaugnessy series.

The first. Bud Thomas threw in the sixth inning, caught Galvin on the end of his index finger, tearing the nail. He called for time, had Trainer Shores patch it up and had a simple play.

Galvin also was spiked on his second finger.

Thomas was brilliant in an eighth inning pinch. Henrich doubled into the crowd in right with one away. Then Gleeson popped to short and Thomas to McCormick. It was then out.

And Thomas was brilliant again in the ninth. He turned the pecky Pals back one, two, three and the series was again up.

It's now two games apiece with the deciding contest coming up tomorrow night at 8:15.

Jim Galvin, the only dependable catcher on the Crackers' club with a pinch-hitter in the seventh. To win one, two, three, however, Ralph Winograd went next to the mound.

'NOT BACKING F.D.R.,' REDS REPLY TO HEARST

Publisher Denies He Said
President Is Accepting Leftists' Support.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Earl Browder, Communist presidential nominee tonight denied the Communists party is supporting the nomination of President Roosevelt in reply to a statement appearing in Hearst newspapers. This coincided with a cabled reply by this publisher in Holland to a statement issued at the White House yesterday asserting "a certain authority" in Spain "is attempting to give the impression that President Roosevelt passively accepts the support of alien organizations hostile to the American form of government." Hearst denied he said the President is accepting such support, but said he was receiving it.

The Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party of the United States, will say editorially tomorrow: ". . . Hearst again attempts another colossal swindle on the American people. Yesterday there blared from front page of his entire chain of newspapers the following false and startling news:

"Communists Can Join . . . in Supporting Roosevelt," says Browder.

"What Browder had actually written, in a plea for a united front against reaction through a Farmers' Alliance, was: 'We Communists can enter such a united front with workers who support Roosevelt. Of course, we do not commit ourselves to Roosevelt in any way by this.' Our position towards Roosevelt is clear. We do not cancel a word of our criticism of him. We do not do this to win him. But we will not break off united front relations with those organizations because they go with Roosevelt."

"Desperate Effort." In a statement beginning "it is no longer news that Hearst is a liar," Browder said:

"We are an American party making our decisions and have received no instructions from Moscow a la Hearst."

Charging that Hearst and Republicans are making a "desperate effort to confuse the election and that this is the chief aim of Franklin's election," Browder continued:

"The Hearst-Landon campaign must indeed be weakening if it needs such desperate lies to bolster it up."

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Progressive, Wisconsin, attacked the Hearst article tonight as "more of the same type of campaign being conducted by backers of Governor Landon."

"Reactionaries who are supporting Landon are going to desperate lengths to divert the attention of the voters from the real issues of the campaign," said LaFollette, calling for the return of the effects of the recent revelations of du Pont, Morgan and other big business support for Governor Landon, his chief supporters now are trying the old power trust game of dragging a red herring across the trail."

John L. Lewis, leader of the Committee for Industrial Organization and of Labor's Non-Partisan League—denounced the incident as "a malignant political conspiracy to defame the President without the vestige of a basis for the charges."

Hearst Statement.

Mr. Hearst's statement said in part:

"Let me say that I have not stated at any time whether the President willingly or unwillingly received the support of the Karl Marx Socialists, the Frankfurter Radicals, Communists and Anarchists, the Tugwell Bolsheviks and the Richberg Revolutionists which constitute the bulk of his following."

He has simply said and shown that he does receive the support of these enemies of the American system of government, and that he has done his best to deserve the support of all such disturbing and destructive elements."

The statement says: "He (President Roosevelt) is no sooner elected than he repudiated the economic plan and the established policies of the Democratic party since its inception, and adopted the platform of the Karl Marx Socialists in almost every word and letter," and that "he has since his election continually solicited the advice of Professor Frankfurter and his fellow radicals, and he has followed their counsel."

"I do not find any pleasure as an American in saying this of an American president, but it is the truth. And as I am not a shifty, pervaricating politician, but for over 50 years have endeavored to serve my country as an honorable and patriotic journalist, I am compelled in fairness to my readers to tell the truth."

WHITE HOUSE BARS COMMENT ON INCIDENT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—White House officials had no comment tonight on William Randolph Hearst's reply to a statement yesterday by Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary.

RALEIGH STEAMS AWAY FOR EUROPEAN DUTY

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Bound for European waters to become flagship of "Squadron 40 Temporary" the cruiser Raleigh steamed away from the Norfolk naval operating base late yesterday, from the coming of Rear Admiral Arthur P. Ettingfield.

The squadron is to be composed of the Raleigh, the destroyers Hatfield and Kane and the coast guard cutter Cayuga. The three latter vessels now are in the vicinity of Gibraltar, which is to be the base for the new squadron.

The Raleigh recently was overhauled at the Norfolk navy yard. She is to relieve the cruiser Quincy, which was detailed for service in Spanish waters when the situation there became so acute that the Navy Department dispatched several ships to the war zone to remove Americans to safety.

The Quincy, a new vessel, had not completed her builders' trials when she was assigned to Spanish waters.

U. S. MALARIA PROJECTS AID 14,000,000 PERSONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Construction of 22,000 miles of ditches to drain 1,000,000 acres of breeding grounds for malaria-carrying mosquitoes was made reported yesterday by the public health service which supervised the work.

Surgeon General Thomas Parran said this work—performed by the Civil Works Administration, the Public Works Administration and the Emergency Relief Administration—has affected protection against malaria to 14,000,000 persons.

Malaria-control drainage projects under supervision of the public health service, Parran said, have been undertaken in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and a section of New Mexico along the Rio Grande valley.

Spain's Civil War Renews Unrest For Neighboring Fascist Portugal

By The Associated Press.
War on its borders and a Communist threat within worry the dictatorship of little Portugal, morticed into the southwestern corner of Spain.

Ten years of political stability have given the Portuguese a desire for peace. From 1910 until 1926 there were 42 cabinets frequently changed by "revolutions" so nearly bloodless that few attracted slight attention abroad.

Spain's civil strife brought back unrest. While Socialists struggled for power in Madrid, Portuguese Communists spread dissent in Portugal. Then came the Spanish Fascist revolt against the Socialist government.

HASCARAL Standard.

Portugal is a republic but with a military president, General Oscar Carmona, and a rather informal civilian dictator, Premier António de Oliveira Salazar, a seemingly mild but terribly strong man.

Salazar entered the Carranca cabinet as minister of finance. He got a free hand—and used it—to balance the budget and restore peace. There have been some small uprisings since 1926 but always they were quickly suppressed.

There was a revolt on the Madeira Islands, over the high cost of milk and butter and just a few days ago the crews of two warships mutinied and were blasted into submission by Lisbon fortress guns. The mutiny was attributed by the government to Communists.

Strongly Fascist, patterned on the corporate state of Italy's Mussolini, the Portuguese republic may rise or fall with Spain.

If the Spanish Fascists win, Portugal will have a big neighbor with similar policies.

War Outcome Watched.

If the Spanish Socialists and Communists win—and if Spain then goes to war with Portugal, similar elements in Portugal may gain strength to upset the Fascist dictatorship.

Portugal is only one-sixth the size of Spain, which bounds her on the north and east; on the west and south is the sea.

South wine and Madeira were and are important factors in Portuguese independence. Portugal became a nation five centuries ago, with much her present boundaries. For half a century, England has been her chief friend and political friend. In 1700, the treaty of Methuen enabled Portugal to sell to the English on good terms, the port wine that English traditionally drink after a dinner and especially for their toast to the king.

General Carmona and his prime minister, Dr. Salazar, have stopped the heavy governmental deficits and made some progress in reducing unemployment.

Problems Similar.

Problems of Spain and Portugal are similar in many respects. In both few industries have been developed, and the standard of living is lower than in many other countries. But the "West Point" of Spain to a ruin piled stone—but the Rebel garrison still fought stubbornly.

Mola launched a squadron after planes against the Loyalists' Talavera-Santa Olalia lines, followed closely by waves of Moors and foreign Legionnaires and their fighters on the peninsula. The Rebels appeared to be superior in the air.

Claim 1,000 Dead.

Rebel radio reports said insurgents already had buried more than 1,000 Loyalists dead, acting quickly to prevent disease.

Rebel victories were reported on several other fronts. An insurgent column on the Asturian front killed 700 Loyalists in an encircling movement in the mountains dominating Cangas de Onís in the Oviedo province, the Rebels radio said.

On the Aragon front, Rebels claimed "a great victory with many Loyalist casualties."

The Rebel blockade of Bilbao and Santander in the land and seaport proceeded.

Mola sent an expedition to Bilbao to surrender or suffer a worse bombardment than was given Irun.

French border authorities at Hendaye received a report that Loyal regular troops in the Garende barracks in Bilbao had revolted against the government and captured the officers and looked themselves in the garrison. If this reported defection is confirmed, it would handicap seriously defense of the city and make likely its capture by Mola's northern columns.

Final rises will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Grant Park Methodist church. The Rev. Dr. Frederick S. Fleming, rector of Trinity parish, who recently proposed a "preaching moratorium," turned from abroad today still convinced his idea was a good one.

All clergymen to whom he put his proposal in Europe, he said, expressed their approval.

"As it is," he said, "the pews in Protestant churches are only one-third occupied. The reason is plain. People are not interested in the drivel expounded by most of our clergymen."

their beds; amid falling glass, stone and timber.

Dr. Alfredo Comas, living opposite El Pais, said he was thrown from bed and first thought an earthquake had occurred. All the windows and several doorways in his home were shattered.

Many citizens within the immediate vicinity were unable to hear clearly for several hours after the explosion.

THE RETURN OF JOAN

BY JOSEPH McCORD

INSTALLMENT XIX.

Gaston had taken on a new importance in the scheme of things here. Deeds had attempted to banish the little twinge of jealousy that had marked his few encounters with man. Joan had told him there was no one he could be jealous of... she thought there never would be. That should go for Gene Gaston, then. But Gaston was a friend of the Ellidges. How well did he know them? Did he know that they were under false colors? And why they were?

The object of these reflections interrupted Deeds again in thought.

"Are you managing to have a good time?"

"Me. Sure. Why not?"

"Well, it's pretty quiet. I'm sorry if I haven't seemed very sociable. But I've been rather busy... sort of conducting business with pleasure."

"Very fortunate!"

"Maybe. A chap has to keep stirring about these days to make ends meet... unless he's lucky enough to have a good income without working. I'm not."

"In the selling game?" Deeds ventured at random.

"No. I've tempered the sharp work with an easy laugh. Perhaps I am, at that... trying to sell myself. Aren't we all?"

"That's what it amounts to, I guess."

"I noticed that Claire has been making advances to you in her care-free way," Gene remarked unexpectedly. "She's quite a kid."

"Very attractive," Deeds acknowledged.

"When I get squared away, we'll have to get busy and figure out some entertainment... for the four of us."

Deeds watched the other disappear in some perplexity. He had been pleasant enough... something sort of disarmant about the fellow. But his last suggestion was a queer one... he included Joan in the "four," of course. Deeds turned his head. Gene was painting the quartet on his easel. "I imagine that you are quite a student," he said.

"He is not," Joan answered shortly.

"She keeps her eyes fixed on the water."

"It's plain to see you're madly in love."

"Ah! And here's our good friend Gene. The water is fine today, isn't it?"

"Not bad."

Deeds, watching the two men closely, fancied their meeting furnished an unusual change in the atmosphere.

He couldn't detect it, but he was satisfied that the little party was ill at ease in Gaston's presence. That impression was strengthened when Elidge scrambled to his feet, saying:

"I must caution Sloan not to do this first time. If you people will excuse me..."

"ATLANTA'S WHO'S WHO IN THE ZODIAC."

MRS. JOSEPH V. FREITAG.

Mrs. Joseph V. Freitag, prominent identified with the social, civic and cultural life of Atlanta, was born with the Sun in Cancer June 26, marking her natural day.

The position of the Moon in this chart gives a practical and enterprising nature that is practical and enterprising.

The Venus-Jupiter position strengthens the entire chart. It becomes the promise of success and achievement to continue throughout the period of a long life.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Constitution, compiled by Bernice Denton Pierson, one of America's best-known astrologers.

All you have to do is to fill in the coupon below, including a self-addressed stamped envelope, together with 10 cents in postage to cover mailing cost. You will then receive through the mail certain pertinent facts which deal astrologically with the sun at the time of your birth, called a sun-chart, and with this sun-chart, a series of numbers which will enable you to identify the planetary interpretations, which will be published in The Constitution each day, dealing with the influence of a given planet on the day of your birth according to the rules of astrology. When you have checked each of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

400 EXPERTS TO MAP
'LITTLE WATERS' PLAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A conference on upstream engineering—described as the science of controlling "little waters"—will open here Tuesday for a two-day session led by Morris L. Cooke.

"Cook," chairman of the Long-Range Drought Committee named by the President and the conference said to be the first of its kind ever held—was viewed by its originators as of value in finding means for combating future droughts.

The conference announcement said engineers, soil men, climatologists and other specialists in conservation would attend sessions at which 400 persons from 40 states were expected.

Forty-two private organizations and 28 public agencies were said to be co-operating.

Cain Longs for Atlanta and Spring
But India's Taj Mahal Comes First

Arthur Cain, writes to the Constitution and its readers today from Copenhagen, Denmark, where the last vessel he snagged a ride on from England has taken him. After nearly two years of skipping about various continents by means of his right thumb, he sits down in Copenhagen writing a short resume of his travels.

The letter is dated August 30, 1936: "While pausing here at Copenhagen, great capital of Denmark, we cast a reflective eye over the events of the past year and submit to those interested a resume of our round-the-world hitch-hike to date."

"Statistics are soaring, but since Cain has engaged himself like a little gentleman, in order to insure passage on to India, there is little time to waste about.

"Proof of any of the following data will be furnished on request of a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and any old clothes you might have lying around the house."

"In India, agriculture is thriving on the ship life. Hard work, good meals and the brisk Baltic air have worked wonders. The temperature on deck at 4 o'clock in the morning when this laboring fireman goes on watch makes it difficult to believe that the month of June is still in progress. And when you landhoppers are perspiring like Indian summer sun."

"Even Homer, the eat, appears almost energetic after the pleasant change of climate. Homer was dreadfully ill during that short period. If it takes another 17 months to complete the journey we shall undoubtedly arrive in our native land broken and bent, wrinkled and gray, sealed before our time."

"We now have 37 countries, including Alaska and colonial possessions. We have traversed continents of 26,000 miles—enough already to have circled the globe. We have employed every mode of transportation except the air. Donkeys and autos, camels and motorcycles, ships and freight trains—all have done their share in conveying Cain hither, thither and ever yon."

$310 EARNED—and SPENT.

"During the trip we have earned $310, of which $250 represents the Berlin coup which lasted us exactly 21 days. It's gone now. The rest was the reward of our labors aboard the few ships which played such important parts in our travels. No assistance has been received from the United States or American consuls abroad. There won't be."

"As to the future, it is impossible to prognosticate just when we shall turn our footsteps homeward. It will certainly require another six months to get you back to India and since we are very vague as to how we are going to cross Russia I am not telling what may happen. I should like very much to see Atlanta in another spring if the orient can be conquered in time."

Taj Mahal is Goal.

"After Moscow there remain Yoko-nan, Shanghai, Singapore, Calcutta, and somewhere down the road, we shall attain the peak of our travel ambitions—the Taj Mahal—in the immemorial part of India. Once that ultimate goal is reached we shall make haste in returning home."
